

The Keytesville Chamber of Commerce met on Monday January 19 at Mel's Place at 6:30 p.m.

Those attending were given copies of the agenda and Terry Sehlke made a motion to approve agenda as presented and the motion was seconded by Robbie Wheeler. Motion passed.

In the absence of Secretary Dora Palmer President Sehlke read the minutes from the January meeting. As there were no additions or corrections, minutes were approved as read.

Treasurer Susan Littleton presented to the Chamber a current financial statement. Currently there are 14 paid members for a total revenue of $350. The only expenses incurred were paying Cheryl Jackson ($50) for the audit of the accounting records and rental fees ($70) on the Community Center. This leaves the Chamber with a current balance of $425.00.

President Sehlke then discussed the issue of the number of signatures required on the Chamber's checking account. Janet Weaver made the motion that the President Cecelia Sehlke's name should also be on the account along with Susan Littleton. Nathan Asbury seconded the motion. Motion passed.

Duties of each committee were then discussed and it was the hope that at the next meeting full committees would be present to start the organizational and planning stages. Amanda Webb presented a handout pertaining to the pros and cons of a web page. She discussed and answered members' questions. At the February meeting a decision could be made as to follow through on the idea of a site. The officers announced they are working on updating by-laws and stated they hoped to have a draft ready by the next meeting to bring for discussion of the Chamber.

Ideas were then discussed on possible projects to attract attention of the Chamber to the community. The Chamber is looking into sponsoring a page at the Lions Club Trivia Night on February 21. Terry Clark is to check on the available space and report to Sehlke. The plan will be to list businesses located in Keytesville.

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be on Monday, February 16
