

The Keytesville Chamber of Commerce has selected Enyeart Auction and Realty as the next business of the month. Enyeart Auction has a long history of support and employment in and around Chariton County. Current owners Danny and Gina Enyeart operate a business that started over 50 years ago by Wallace and Peggy Enyeart.

Wallace served as the Chariton County Treasurer for 16 years until 1980 when he chose to devote more time to the auction business. He conducted thousands of auctions including farm, household, antique, commercial and business liquidations.

Danny, the oldest son, graduated from Keytesville High School in 1981 and attended auctioneering school. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri with a General Ag degree. He then became a Missouri Certified Real Estate appraiser. He is married to Gina (Haskamp) from Glasgow. She is a graduate of Glasgow High School and from MU. She earned a degree in interior design. She is employed by Sanders Decorating in Salisbury. She says, "I feel so lucky to be able to do what I am trained to do in Chariton County." Mrs. Enyeart is also a licensed real estate salesperson.

The Enyearts have three sons: Loren, Clayton and Jordan. Loren graduated from KHS with the class of 2009 and is a graduate of MU where he also earned an agriculture degree. He works with the auction company and is in the three-year process of becoming a MO Certified Appraiser. He is married to Amber (Morrison). She is employed by Bossville Wholesalers and works the auction business.

Clayton graduated from Salisbury High School with the class of 2013 and will graduate in December from MU with a degree in Agriculture Business. He is following in his grandfather's and father's footsteps and has graduated from auctioneering school. He currently works for the company and helps conducting auctions.

Jordan is the youngest son, a graduate of Salisbury High School in 2015 and is currently enrolled as a freshman in Warrensburg.

Enyeart Auction and Realty is an active part of the economy in Chariton County. They continue to conduct all types of auctions: farm, real estate, household, antique and commercial. Danny is also a livestock auctioneer. He started in New Cambria and has conducted auctions from New Cambria, Chillicothe, Sedalia, Tina and all spots in between. On Tuesday and Thursday he travels to Kingsville, the 4th largest animal auction in the state.

The family conducts on site auctions at their building located in Keytesville on Highway 24.

Family, home and Chariton County are words closely associated with the Enyeart family. "The Keytesville area has been home for many generations of the Enyeart family and we are proud to be a part of this community. Keytesville is where we chose to come back to, to raise our family and operate our business. We appreciate all the support we receive."

The Keytesville Chamber of Commerce congratulates the Enyeart family and business for their continued support of our community and the surrounding areas.
